19th St. overpass bid high

Granite City is sure to rebid its proposed 19th Street overpass project. David Nolan, administrative assistant to Mayor Paul Schuler, said after returning from Springfield Friday, disappointed by a construction bid far exceeding the engineer's estimate of the cost.

"We have to rebid. I don't think there is any choice in that," Nolan told the Press-Record. The lone bid was $6,400,504. He said he, the city's engineering staff and state and federal authorities will be reviewing the specifications and the bid this week, attempting to determine why it was so far over the estimate.

"We hope to have a statement by tomorrow night's City Council meeting," Nolan said this morning.

The 19th Street overpass project was among the projects for which construction bids were opened Friday in Springfield and only one bid was received. Millstone Construction, Inc., St. Louis, bid $6,400,504 for the work, or 19.6 percent over the engineer's estimate of $5.3 million.

"We knew that six construction companies picked up specifications from IDOT (the Illinois Department of Transportation), but the five Illinois companies did not turn in bids. We hope to contact them today to find out why they decided not to bid on the project," Nolan said.

Mayor Paul Schuler has speculated that many area contractors are interested in the new lock and dam to be constructed at Alton and may not want to commit their equipment to another project at this time.

Companies which obtained specifications, but did not bid, were Hayden Construction Co. and Hoeffken Brothers Construction Co., both of

RAIL STUDY. Merrill Travis, chief of management and special studies for the Illinois Department of Transportation, addressed a group Thursday in East St. Louis concerning rail relocation study now in progress. Local officials expressed concern that additional rail shipments in this area could add to vehicle tie-ups at crossings, unless adequate overpasses are included in the plans.

Rail relocations may necessitate new overpasses

By GARY SCHNEIDER of the Press-Record

Concerns that centralizing rail facilities in the St. Louis metropolitan area into two or three major switching yards in Illinois will increase the frequency of crossing tieups, particularly at West Pontoon Road and at Route 162, were expressed by local officials during a hearing on the rail issue in East St. Louis Thursday.

At a "scoping" discussion during the hearing, hosted by the Illinois Department of Transportation and the Federal Railroad Administration, area officials were asked to express their concerns about the St. Louis Metro Area Rail Gateway Enterprise (MARGE) program.

The plan calls for closing or reducing switching operations at 22 smaller rail yards and increasing operations in the Madison and Centerville yards.

One of the alternatives being studied calls for construction of a third rail yard between National City and Brooklyn, in addition to improving the Madison and Centerville yards.

Among the railroad yards to be eliminated or reduced are the numerous yards along the East St. Louis riverfront and the downtown St. Louis yard which spreads east from Union Station.

Many acres of land, which could be used for recreational, industrial, commercial or housing projects, could be freed by the program, officials emphasized at the meeting on the MARGE plan.

However, the proposal to consolidate rail operations did not meet universal acceptance at the meeting, particularly from Quad-City area representatives. State Rep. Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) said he is concerned that the main thrust of the plan is to eliminate switching operations in St. Louis and bring them to Illinois, thus potentially increasing tieups at crossings and adding to the noise, air and water pollution of Illinois.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer of Granite City said preliminary plans indicate that the majority of the rail traffic for the entire metropolitan area would go through "two major rail corridors in Granite City. One cuts off one-fourth of the city (West Granite City) and the other at Route 162 is a major switching car corridor which cuts the city of Granite City off from the outside world," he said.

"There is only one way to get out of Granite City without crossing a railroad track and that is Route 203 (Nameoki Road) to Interstate 270."

"The downtown crossings carry about 6,000 autos per day; the Pontoon Road crossing has about 10,000 vehicles a day; and at Route 162, about 15,000 cars per day cross."

"The Route 162 crossing has been

More delay on dam is possible

The waterways industry had hoped that its October court victory would herald the end of five years of opposition to replacing Alton lock-dam facilities. But 17 railroads jointly said Friday they will appeal the U. S. District Court finding that adequate attention has been given to the project's environmental impact.

The Chicago-based Western Railroad Association said the Missouri Pacific Railroad and 16 other lines will file the appeal in the Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

The largest public works project in the history of the Midwest, the long-delayed construction of a new Mississippi River dam and lock has been started in preliminary phases. But completion will hinge on a favorable ruling by the Court of Appeals and possibly the U. S. Supreme Court.

A 1,200-foot lock is to be built two miles downstream from the small existing locks at Alton, where the age and capacity of the present structure have been blamed for river hazards and delays.

The railroads, who are to be joined in

He is a member of Marine Attack Squadron 331, 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing, based at the Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N.C. Cutback at Alton Box

Alton Box Board Company is undertaking major reorganization of the administrative departments in its corporate and divisional headquarters in Alton. The reorganization will involve consolidation of some functions and curtailment of others, resulting in the early retirement or termination of nearly 75 Alton employees. Aimed at reducing costs, the reorganization is based on a newly completed review of the cost-effectiveness of the company's administrative departments. That review indicated the need to streamline and decentralize work performed in the company's corporate and divisional offices. Alton management decided the restructuring is necessary to strengthen the financial and operating base of the company. Alton Box Board has developed a special program to assist the employees who are terminated. Each employee will be paid at least Feb. 1, through a combination of salary, vacation and severance payments. Any employee eligible to elect early retirement may do so at a special higher level of retirement benefits. Professional employment counselors have been retained by the company to assist those who wish to find new employment. The company also has written to area employers to advise them of the availability of certain Alton staff and to offer those employees assistance in hiring them. Alton Box Board has 15 plants and more than 4,300 employees in paperboard packaging, paper reclamation, and the manufacturing of folding cartons, corrugated shipping containers and paper tubes, products.

well known for years for train blockages of 45 minutes to an hour," Brewer stated.

"This program will have to be coupled with a number of overpasses. We certainly would like to build them, but there will be problems, particularly at Route 203 (Nameoki Road) and West Pontoon Road," he predicted.

He said the railroad tracks are too close to Nameoki Road to allow an overpass, without spanning both the crossing and Nameoki Road. "That would mean entry and exit ramps and take up quite a bit of residential property. I just don't want the study to be completed and all of a sudden in Granite City they lay the news on us we have to raise 150 houses for an overpass."

"It might create a good situation for some, but to us, there would be a loss of revenue, housing and possibly a major retailer. However, your study might show that our loss is overshadowed by the overall gain to the area, so the project would continue. Your gain is our loss. We don't like that," Brewer concluded.

Merrill Travis, chief of management and special studies for the Illinois Department of Transportation, said that some tradeoffs and compromises might be necessary. "Tradeoffs are what make up the EIS (Environmental Impact Statement)," he commented.

A consultant for the program said preliminary studies in Phase One of the MARGE program identified about 50 vehicle crossings with enough traffic to warrant further study. "West Pontoon is a very difficult one," he agreed.

Brewer suggested the study consider routing all of the traffic from the Madison yard, and possibly the proposed National City yard, around the east side of Granite City, rather than using the lines near the downtown area. "It might be a lot cheaper than a lot of overpasses," he said.

Nameoki Township Supervisor Harold Davis indicated displeasure with that proposal, saying plans to increase rail usage through Nameoki Township should be studied carefully to avoid disturbing the drainage. "Our drainage is a disaster now," he said.

He also expressed displeasure with plans to increase the frequency of trains through the township, saying rail crossing delays present a major problem for residents of Nameoki Township.

Travis pointed out that one of the alternatives being studied is a "no build" or "do nothing" alternative.

Even if nothing is done, rail traffic through the St. Louis area will increase an estimated 2.1 percent per year and will be up 34 percent by 1990, according to studies. Currently, 800,000 rail cars move through the metropolitan area annually, he said.

One consultant said better utilization of bridges over the Mississippi River is an important part of the plans. He noted that the conditions of several bridges, including McKinley Bridge in Venice, have been studied and he concluded, "Certainly, on some bridges, work on the river spans will be necessary to increase the load capacity."

Speakers who explained the MARGE program and the status of the studies included Richard J. Crisafulli and Bridget Hynes-Cherish of the Federal Railroad Administration, Dan C. Dees, deputy director of the IDOT, and Thomas P. Walsh, executive director of the MARGE program for IDOT.

They concluded by saying that the draft environmental impact statement is to be completed by November 1980, and that input from all area governmental officials will be welcomed in the planning process.

He also indicated that citizen participation will be encouraged, and said a citizens' advisory committee is being formed.

The council could accept the $6.4 million bid, but it would be up to the city to raise the additional $1.1 million and Schuler indicated the city already has tapped every available source of revenue to come up with the local share of the $5.3 million estimated cost.

"We are not going to be alone in trying to figure out why the bid was so high," Nolan said, noting the Federal Highway Administration and IDOT also will be reviewing the bid and will have a voice in deciding whether to rebid it or to redesign the overpass.

"The state and the federal government have money tied up in this and they will have a voice in deciding what we will do," he concluded.

The more than $5 million that has been set aside for construction of a two-lane overpass to link West Granite City and Highway Three with the downtown Granite City area at 19th Street includes several grants and a contribution of $1.3 to $1.7 million by Granite City Steel in lieu of a municipal energy tax on major energy users.

their appeal by the Sierra Club and the Isaac Walton League, the other plaintiffs in the original suit, will challenge the way decisions are made by the executive branch of the federal government "to spend large sums of money."

James M. Souby, president of the Western Railroad Association, said the Army Engineer Corps decision to replace the dam was "based on secret data and undisclosed reports."

Concerned about the possible loss of business for barge lines, the railroads say a new dam and lock would lead to increased barge traffic which might cause environmental damage to the river.

James R. Swanick, 49, of 307 Eberhardt, Caseyville, a Granite City school teacher for 20 years, was pronounced dead upon arrival at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 7:58 p.m. Friday.

He was born in Melvin, Ill., and began his teaching career here as a music instructor in the elementary schools, in 1959. Presently he was a student council adviser and speech teacher at Grigsby Junior High School.

A member of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Collinsville, Mr. Swanick also belonged to the Masquers Theater Group and was a board member of the Junior High School Association. He had served with the U.S. Air Force.

Outlines factors in sale decision

To the Editor:
 I am writing this letter in response to the article that appeared in the Oct. 29 edition of the Press-Record pertaining to the sale of the Perdue Furniture building.

Initially, an offer to purchase the building was made to me by my late husband's brother, John Perdue. After reviewing his proposal, my family and I felt the offer was not satisfactory.

Because of my dissatisfaction with the offer, I contacted the Madison Lions Club to see if it would be interested in purchasing the building. My husband, Jim, was extremely fond of the Lions Club and was very proud to be one of its members.

So, both because of the better financial arrangement and because of my husband's close emotional ties to the Lions Club, we decided to sell the building to the club.

then, dear grandson of Mrs. Joyce Phillips.

 Beloved wife of the late Rno Zurkühlen; dear mother of Mrs. Barbara Trider and Mrs. Linda Pahlmann; dear sister of Mrs. Billie Padovano and Mrs. Jackie Harper; dear grandmother.
 Memorial services 12 noon today, Dec. 3, at DAVIS FUNERAL HOME Chapel, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard.

my family and I made the decision to sell to that civic organization.
 Frankly, I can see no reason why my ex-brother-in-law would wish to cause such a furor over a matter which involves me, my family, and the Lions—not him.

In passing, I am also unable to see why a personal situation which had been settled weeks prior to the Oct. 29 article would warrant front page coverage.

My family and I feel we made the correct decision in the sale of our building. We know my ex-brother-in-law, which Jim would heartily approve.

NEW JUDGE SPEAKS. Circuit Judge Charles Chapman addresses the Madison-Venice Rotary Club. Seated is Jack Lee, the club president.

Hearings Dec. 6 on health planning

Two consecutive hearings have been scheduled by the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency (HSA) to take place at its offices, 915 Olive St., 15th floor on Thursday.

A hearing at 6 p.m. will concern the HSA's proposed application to the federal government for funding for a fifth year of operation. The second at 7 p.m. will concern its proposed plan for improving health services in the St. Louis metropolitan region.

The agency is encouraging interested citizens to attend the hearings and to submit oral or written testimony on the proposals.

Malpractice suits costly and difficult

Careful consideration needs to be given by the complainant and the law firm the complainant is using before any form of malpractice suit against a professional person is lodged, the Madison-Venice Rotary Club was told last week by Circuit Judge Charles W. Chapman.

Chapman is a former member of the Granite City law firm of Chapman and Chapman and specialized in this type of suit prior to becoming a judge.

Malpractice was defined by the speaker as the conduct of a professional person, son, such as a physician or lawyer, who through reprehensible ignorance, negligence or criminal intent causes an injury or loss to someone.

He commented that many such suits should not be filed in the first place.

Before a law firm accepts a malpractice case, a thorough investigation should be made by the firm to be sure the case should be pursued, the club was told.

An example given was that medical files should always be reviewed by a medical doctor.

"These types of cases are expensive. Just the investigative cost to determine if your client has a legitimate case can be staggering."

"Cost of handling this type of case in court can run as high as $25,000 to $35,000 and sometimes more," he related.

"A malpractice case is difficult to handle from a lawyer's or a judge's point of view."

These cases are also difficult to win, since many times jurors will tend to identify with a doctor," Judge Chapman said.

The M.V. Rotarians, this Wednesday will have Anna-Maari Peitsara, an exchange student from Finland, as the club's guest speaker.

She is attending Granite City High School South and is here under the sponsorship of the Granite City Rotary Club.

On Wednesday, Dec. 12, Mrs. Shirley Greer of the Madison Recreation Department will have a mini-gymnastics team for the Madison-Venice Rotary program.

Mrs. Valerie Stevens, music director for the Madison School District, and young grade school students will present their annual Christmas program on Wednesday, Dec. 19, for the M.V. Rotarians.

Attending the Dec. 12 meeting, as guests of the club, will be clients and families "connected with OATH Inc. (Organization for the Advancement of the Handicapped).

She reported the incident to a hospital security guard who alleged he recognized Starnes as a former employee of the medical center.

Gifts presented by students at St. Elizabeth

Pupils of St. Elizabeth School celebrated a Mass of Thanksgiving in late November. The church had an appropriate setting of bouquets of fall flowers and rustic drapery.

At the preparation of the gifts, a pupil from each of the eleven classrooms carried a gift representative of the donated to Catholic Charities to be distributed among the poor.

As each gift was presented and placed on the altar, another pupil gave a related commentary.

Father Schmidt commented on the first reading to remind all present of "the many gifts that God has given, above all the gift of people to each other."

'None of the above' running well in Illinois

By ROBERT ESTILL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Any presidential hopeful who thinks he has an early lock on Illinois votes would do well to ponder a survey taken by Rep. Edward Madigan, R-Lincoln.

Among Madigan's central Illinois constituents who responded to his questionnaire, the overwhelming favorite is neither President Jimmy Carter nor Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.

Nor does the broadest beam of favor shine on either Ronald Reagan or John Connally, the front-runners in some national polls, of GOP preferences.

The leading presidential preference in Madigan's district is "other."

Madigan's questionnaire, mailed district-wide in mid-October, included this question:

"Which of these four impresses you as being most capable of leading our country from 1981 to 1985?"

Castle to speak

John Castle, director of the new Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, will speak at an open meeting of Illinois Metro East at noon Monday, Dec. 10, at the Holiday Inn, Collinsville.

The Agency headed by Castle was created Oct. 1 as part of a reorganization of state agencies, and is responsible for various programs affecting the economy of the state and the local metropolitan area.

Castle will discuss the structure of the DCCA, its plans, programs and policies. The agency includes the former Departments of Local Government Affairs and Business and Economic Development, and the Governor's Office of Manpower and Human Development.

The meeting is open to the public. Tickets are $8 each, and may be obtained from the Regional Commerce and Growth Association, according to C. E. Rudell, president, Illinois Metro East. Reservations are necessary.

Illinois Metro East is an economic development organization serving the Illinois portion of the St. Louis metropolitan area. It is affiliated with the RGA.

What the voters there seem to be saying this time is that they are not all that convinced of the leadership capabilities of any of the presidential aspirants.

With three and a half months remaining until Illinois' March 18 primary, when national convention delegates will be elected, the candidates have a lot of selling to do.

REINHARDT—Realtor

But the largest single bloc of votes—296 or 27.3 percent—went to "other."

To some extent, "other" is a reflection of the large number of GOP presidential hopefuls. About 50 of the 296 "other" supporters wrote in names. Most frequently, they wrote in George Bush and Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn.

Less frequently, they wrote in the two Illinois entrants, Republican Reps. Philip Crane of Mount Prospect and John Anderson of Rockford.

But what the sizeable "other" vote reflects most clearly is that Illinois is an open ball game.

The sampling in Madigan's district may very well mirror an uncommitted

FOOD STAMPS TAKEN
About $78 worth of food stamps, a food stamp identification card and a 50-cent roll of pennies were stolen from the apartment of Judy Moyers, 2902 Kirkpatrick Homes, last week, police were told Thursday.

The items were hidden in a hanging planter in the kitchen, the victim said. There were no signs of forced entry, but two windows had been left unlocked, police were told.

Centuries ago the kings, queens and noblemen of India and Persia used official seals which were carved from lapis lazuli. Today, this lovely stone, also known as azure stone because of its magnificent blue color, is valued for its beauty.

Lapis lazuli and zircon are the birthstones for people born in December. These lovely, inexpensive stones make excellent gifts.

Social Security taxes to increase

Social Security Administration
When is my employer going to stop taking Social Security taxes out of my check? This is a common question received by the Social Security TeleService Center during the last three months of the year.

The Social Security system is based on taxes deducted from a worker's pay check. The employer must match the worker's contribution. Self-employed people pay a higher percentage because there are no employer matching funds.

Each year, the amount on which you pay Social Security and the percentage that you pay are subject to change. These amounts are determined by Congress.

In 1979, 6.13 percent of a worker's earnings up to $22,900 is withheld for Social Security taxes. This is a maximum payment of $1,403.77.

A self-employed person will pay 8.1 percent of his earnings for a maximum payment of $1,854.90. No Social Security taxes will be paid on earnings over $22,900.

In 1980, a worker will pay on all earnings up to $25,900. These amounts will increase automatically in future years to keep up with changes in average wage levels. This means that a worker paying increased Social Security contributions can be sure of higher benefits on a higher level of earnings.

Many people complain that Social Security taxes are too high and that they have paid in more than they could ever receive after retirement. If a worker paid maximum Social Security taxes from 1937 to 1978, he would have paid in $9,899.20 and a self-employed person would have paid $13,132.20.

His monthly Social Security check would presently be $553.30 a month.

In rare cases, a worker with more than one employer during a year may overpay his Social Security taxes. If this occurs, his tax money will be refunded after he files his income tax forms.

For more information, Quad-Cityans may contact the local Social Security offices at 650 Missouri Ave., East St. Louis, or 218 W. Main St., Belleville. The telephone number is 274-4100 or toll free, dialing the operator and asking for Enterprise 1-555.

Whooping cough cases in northern part of county

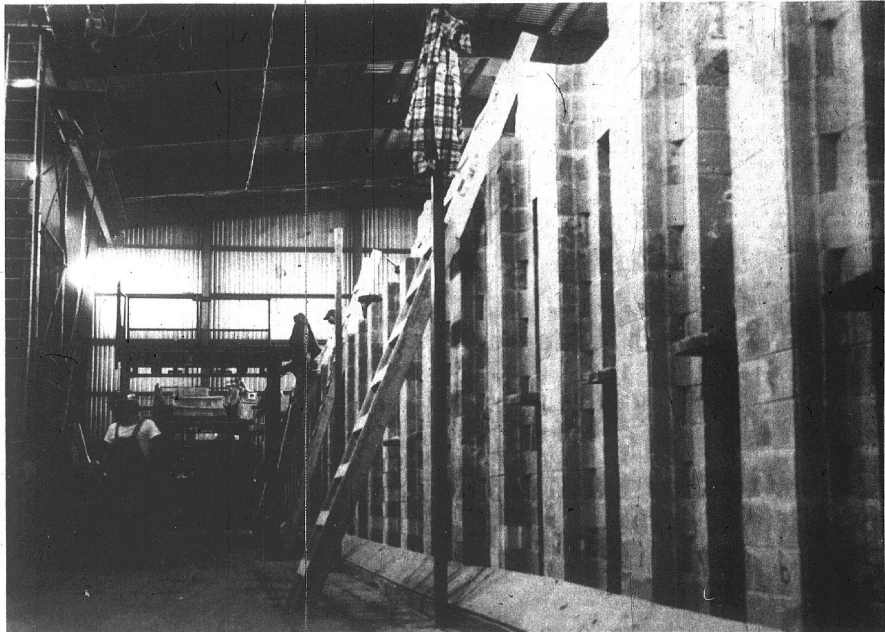

Since mid-November, 41 suspected cases of pertussis (whooping cough) have been reported in Madison County. William L. Kempiners, acting director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, said the cases have occurred primarily in infants and pre-school children in Wood River, Alton, East Alton, Bethalto and Cottage Hills.

He urged parents to check their children's immunization records to determine whether the children's DPT (diphtheria, pertussis, tetanus) immunizations are up to date. "Parents whose children's immunizations are not up to date should contact their physician," Kempiners advised. He also cautioned parents to contact a physician immediately if their child exhibits symptoms of whooping cough. Symptoms include cough, runny nose, sneezing, malaise and perhaps fever. "The cough," he said, "is usually more severe even after the other symptoms have subsided." He said that staff members of the state health department's immunization program are working with area physicians, Visiting Nurses Associations, and hospitals in an effort to halt the outbreak.

Kempiners emphasized that in order to build protection against whooping cough, a child must have received the series of three vaccinations.

"The vaccine should be administered at two-month intervals," Kempiners said, "beginning when the child is two or three months of age." He added that a booster dose should be administered when the child is about 1½ years of age, and again when the child enters school.

COKE OVENS UNDER CONSTRUCTION. Granite City Steel is replacing the former "C" Battery of coke ovens — the rows of brick chambers in which coal is reduced to coke for fuel in the blast furnaces. The project is expected to greatly improve air quality in the vicinity of the ovens. This photograph shows the top portion of the battery, with work going on under a temporary steel shelter.

Rep. Steele seeks 4th term

State Representative Everett G. Steele (R-Glen Carbon) has announced he will seek a fourth two-year term as state representative in the March 1980 primary. As the senior House member in length of service from the 56th Legislative District, Steele said, "I believe I can serve with increased effectiveness during the next two years, and continue working in behalf of programs which help the people of the 56th District and our state."

Saying he will run on his record, Steele cited his legislative proposal to earmark sales tax revenue from gasoline sales for road purposes (HB 814), a concept which was incorporated in principle as part of the new four-year road program, thus avoiding a gasoline tax increase.

The legislator also pointed to activities which have included legislation to provide strict penalties for railroads that block highways beyond 10 minutes (HB 751); a bill to provide golden age hunting and fishing licenses for senior citizens (HB 340); and legislation which initiates steps toward replacement of the Clark Bridge over the Mississippi River at Alton (HB 550). All of these measures have now been signed by Governor James Thompson.

Steele commented that within the past several weeks, his earlier legislation to provide a safeguard against telephone harassment was tested in the Illinois Supreme Court and was upheld as constitutional. The local lawmaker said it is important during the next two years to "hold down state spending, balance our state budget, and enact tax relief for citizens to the fullest extent that our state revenues will permit." Rep. Steele was one of a few legislators who paid all of his own expenses and transportation to attend the National Conference of state Legislatures in San Francisco, Calif., this July. He has also been among the first Illinois legislators to periodically use a mobile office to seek out the views of his constituents.

He maintains legislative offices in Alton, Granite City and Glen Carbon. Steele serves as a member of the Appropriations and Transportation Committees, the Energy Resources Commission, and the Illinois Legislative Council.

He resides in Glen Carbon with his wife, Josephine, and sons, Bryan and Randy. The former Granite Cityan was active as a realtor before winning election to the General Assembly.

THEFT FROM GARAGE
A five-drawer tool chest valued at $109 and about $230 worth of tools were stolen from the garage at the home of Bonnie Evans, 2340 Edgewood Ave., last week. Entry was believed gained through an unlocked door.

Arrest attorney

Attorney Terryl W. Francis, 50, of 2750 Madison Ave., was arrested at 5:30 p.m. Thursday on a warrant alleging battery.

Real Estate Agent Norma J. Koesterer, of 50 Cambridge Drive, alleged Francis punched her at the First Granite City National Bank Nov. 15 in a disagreement over a warranty deed on a home she was selling.

Circuit Judge Charles Chapman issued a warrant Wednesday morning after the victim signed a battery complaint. Police were called to the Koesterer home Thursday evening on a report Francis was there, and arrested him.

He was released after posting $252 cash bond.

Cougars Tampa-bound after whipping USF 4-2

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE
There had to be warmer places to be on the first of December than five degrees, wind-chill SUITE Cougar field. Say, San Francisco or Tampa Bay.

For the teams assembled at SUITE, the Cougars of the University of San Francisco.
Dons, though, this cold semi-annual NCAA soccer quarterfinal game was a necessary step before either could go anywhere.

As it turned out, both would be heading for warmer climates. San Francisco would return to the city by the bay and SUITE would head south — for the NCAA finals at Tampa Bay next Sunday.

All because of the Cougars' stunning 4-2 victory in the wind and cold.

For the Cougars, the wind
may have been as important as what San Francisco coach Stephen Negroesco described as his team's lack of discipline on defense.

The Cougars blew three goals by the Dons in the last 20 minutes of the first half to assume an insurmountable
4-1 lead.

The eventual go-ahead goal was scored by the Cougars' leading scorer, Don Ebert, at 20:14. It was illustrative of the way SUITE, assisted by Mother Nature,

capitalized on San Francisco's mistakes.

The Don's Roger
Alphonso, back on defense, attempted to clear the ball from the corner near the San Francisco net. But Alphonso either misjudged the wind or shanked the ball, because his kick headed toward the Don's goalie Andy Fry.

Ebert was also waiting,
and it came down to a jumping contest between Ebert and the goalie. "I knew that I could outjump him," Ebert said. "The ball was right there and I put it in."

That made the score 2-1,
but the Cougars knew a one-goal lead over San Francisco's cat-like front line would not be enough.
Especially considering the Don's would have the wind to their backs in the second half.

"I was freezing my butt off down there in the first half,"

said SUITE goalie Ed Get-temeier. "But I knew that the second half was going to be real tough. They're a great team. They've got guys who can score any time. But we never lost our concentration."

SUITE padded its lead with goals from Dave Hummert and Tim Guelker in quick succession after Ebert's, and the second half took on a new complexion.

"We gave up some of our defense for more attack in the first half," SUITE coach Bob Guelker said. "We knew we had to. They've got a line that can kill you on any given play. So we figured we had to get as much as we could with the wind."

But in the second half, the Cougars were almost all defense. Even their forwards went into soccer's version of the four-corner stall.

The Don's broke through only once. Late in the game,

San Francisco's Luis Magalhães was awarded an indirect free kick about 20 yards in front of the Cougar goal. Magalhães, whose apparent goal was called back by the penalty, lined a shot over the Cougar line that just got past a diving Gettemeier.

But other than that, the Dons were held firmly in check. Despite the speed and quick-striking ability of their

Oilers hot, North not

By PETE HAYES

WOOD RIVER — BILL
Ohlendorf spoke in the chilly hallway leading to the visiting teams' dressing room at Wood River High School. He scratched his head. But the answer wasn't hard for him to come by.

Height and hot shooting
had beaten his team.

Riding the crest of a 76 percent shooting performance in the first half,
the Wood River Oilers handed Granite City North a 55-56 defeat in the season-opener for both teams here
Friday night.

North battled the Oilers hard, but in the end was battling itself — or at least a handicap. North's tallest player (Mike York) stands at 6'2", and in high school basketball in this day and age, that's a weakness.

Wood River center Dan Coddington pumped in 25 points to lead his team to the victory. He's 6'5". But as important as he was, he wasn't the only reason for the Oilers' loss.

Hot shooting. Plain and simple.

Press-Record Sports

GRANITE CITY (ILL.) PRESS-RECORD, Monday, Dec. 3, 1979—9

"When the other team shoots 76 percent in the first half, there's not a whole lot
we can do about it," said
North coach Bill Ohlendorf.

"But we did have our chances." What Ohlendorf was referring to was the fact that Wood River seemed to be doing everything but put the Stealers away. In fact, North led at the end of the first quarter 16-14.

But then came the second quarter when Wood River made the most of its shooting abilities. The Oilers led at half-time 40-32.

The main culprit in the second quarter was Coddington. Not so much with his scoring — although it was very present — but with his shot-blocking.

The senior jumping-jack blocked four North shots in the period and snatched two out of the air.

"We knew his height advantage would hurt us," said Ohlendorf. "But we knew it (height) was going to be before the season. It's going to hurt us all year."

The last lead for North was at 23:32 early in the second period. But Wood River's hot-shot guard Doug Wooley came one from 20 feet and gave the Oilers the lead — for good. That lead did not go unchallenged.

Even though they trailed by as many as 12 points early in the third period, the Stealers struggled back to within three points at the end of the third quarter, 52-48.
It wasn't pretty, that struggle to regain the lead by North. But it worked. The main ingredient was hustle.

A cliché, that word hustle.
But that was the only way to describe it. With guards Bob Batey and Dennis Page diving and scrambling all across the floor in pursuit of loose balls, the Oilers knew they were in a dogfight.

Page, York and Mike
Robertson each hit jump shots that helped North narrow the gap to two, 46-44.
After a Wood River score,
Page countered. It was 48-46.

Trojans as close as can be

By KEVIN ALLEN

MADISON — EEEEESide. On the chant. It strikes fear. It inspires awe. EEEEEside.
But what's this? The East St. Louis Flyers,
THE East St. Louis
Flyers were taken to the wire — twice? By Madison. Say what?

Now Madison is a fine team, went to the state tournament last year and all that. But they're Class
A, small school. And East Side is a BIG school.

So how does it happen
that a very good little school comes within a sigh of downing a giant?
Run the clock down to eight seconds, score the living points, fill the floor with fans, and then go into overtime.

In the overtime period
trade baskets until you have another electrifying finish, and lose by a point
by as the clock flashes
:00, 09-08.

That's how close the Trojans came to beating the Flyers.

It was a match of speed

against sheer physical strength. Madison had the speed. East St. Louis had the strength.

It came down to the Trojan's ability to neutralize the Flyers'
strength inside by running them into the ground.

Ironically though, the Trojans were not the quick-pressing run-and-gunners they usually are at least not all game
long.

Madison showed a little of everything, from man-
to-man to the full court press. The strategy was to show the Flyers one thing just long enough for familiarity, then quickly change it.

"The press really bothered them," Madison
coach Larry Graham said. "They had a lot of young kids, we just didn't put enough pressure on them we got behind."

"We knew they'd try to keep us off balance,
because of our younger players," Nunn said.

Madison went to the press with three minutes

left in regulation time,
and reaped immediate benefits.

Down 61-52 at the time, the Trojans were forced to do something to close the gap.

One minute and a half later the Trojans had sliced the Flyers lead down to 63-56. Madison called for a time out.

Madison was forcing East St. Louis mistakes.
Morris Hughes tied up

a jump ball, and tipped
over to Charles Claggett

Tyrone Echols stole an inbounds pass and fed

Trojans to 65-62, there were eight seconds left.

East St. Louis called for time. But when play resumed, the game broke down in confusion.

The Flyers attempted to inbound the ball, but the time keeper didn't start the clock.

The Flyers were called for a foul, and the East
St. Louis bench was up, loudly protesting the situation.

Two seconds were allowed to click from the clock, and Madison's Ricky Powers went to the free throw line.

Powers' first free throw made it 63-63. But the second shot bounced

away from the rim.
Hughes came up with the rebound and tied the game, 65-65, with a lay up.

Pandemonium again.

louder protest from the Flyer bench, the clock ticked off the final seconds of regulation time.

JACKSONVILLE — An old friend came back to haunt the Venice Red Devils here Saturday night. And it just about cost them a 2-0 record.

Venice saw its record dip to 1-1 on the season when it fell to powerful Jacksonville
96-70 in the process missing
19 free throws.

Venice was coming off a thrilling overtime victory
last Tuesday at St. Paul Highland in which the Red Devils made 10 straight free throws in the overtime to ice it away. But Saturday, things were evened out.

"We should have won,"
muttered Venice coach Ken Perkins. "When you look at the stats, we were right with them in field goals (actually, Jacksonville had one more).
But when you miss the game," said Perkins. "They had many free throws, you can't win."

"It was a lack of concentration."

Besides the missed free throws, Venice had foul problems. In fact, four of the starting five players fouled out in the fourth quarter.

After a sluggish start, Venice found itself down at the end of the quarter 24-10.
But the Devils began a comeback and narrowed the gap to six points before the fouls started mounting up.

Red Devils Donald and Archie Gardner each picked up their third personal fouls with over three minutes remaining in the first half and were forced by Perkins to the bench in order to keep them out of more problems.

"We had several experienced players out there at one time because of the foul thing," said Perkins.
"That's when they (Jacksonville) built their lead back up."

The Red Devils trailed at halftime 43-26.

Jacksonville used its superior height all night. Big 6'6" center Greg Havlin worked himself free for a game-high 25 points. Guard 6'1" John Rousto pumped in 20. "We knew they'd work it in to him (Havlin)," said Perkins. "But even though we knew it, we didn't do much to stop it."

At the beginning of the third quarter, Jacksonville added to its lead slightly before the Red Devils caught fire. With sophomore Archie

Gardner back in the lineup,
the Devils managed to creep back to within 11 points before Jacksonville pulled the rug out again.

Down 68-40 going into the fourth quarter, Venice put on a flurry of baskets, but with foul problems and little time left, it was not enough. The Red Devils outscored
Jacksonville 29-18 in the final period.

Senior all-state candidate Donald Gardner was held to seven points, well off his 18 points per game average of a year ago. In last week's victory over St. Paul, Donald scored 22 points and Archie put in 20. "Donald only getting seven points, is the key to the game," said Perkins. "They had the Havlin kid on him and doubled up on him at times."

"We obviously didn't play
well early in the game," said Perkins. "When you're down as far as we were, it's hard to come back."

"It seemed like every time
we started something,
something would happen to snuff it out."

Perkins became a bit more philosophical. "In the end, a game like this will help us,"
he said. "Because we know Jacksonville, we would have won the game."

It's hard to win in Jacksonville anyway. It's hard to win on the road at all.

Being 1-1 on the road,
Venice will travel to Okaville Tuesday for its battle with the undefeated Rockets.

Flyers not complete, Madison clock slow

MADISON — Look out
Class A basketball teams,
the Madison Trojans lost to the mighty East St.
Louis Flyers by a point, in overtime.

But before you go out and reserve your space for the state basketball tournament, consider this:

"We stink, stank, stunk
tonight. But that's usual, we usually stink up a gym
in the early part of the season." That's Flyer
coach Coy Nunn,
speaking.

"I don't want to take anything away from Madison though. They played a tremendous game. If we hustled the way they do it'd be all over. East St. Louis would be state champions in March."

Two of the Flyers,
Victor Scott and Walter Jackson, fresh from the state football champion Flyers, were not in uniform.

"We were missing two of our starters," Nunn said. "We were starting a junior and two sophomores. We'll be much different as the season goes on."

Madison coach Larry Graham, despite all that,
was justifiably impressed playing the Flyers so close.

"I'm not disappointed with our effort," he said.
"For a little team, we proved we could come back from 11 points down."

Toward the end of the game it was hard to tell clearly what was happening on the floor.
Not the least confused
was Nunn.

When the Flyers in-bounded the ball with eight seconds left in the game, the timekeeper
didn't start the clock.
East St. Louis was called for a foul and the Flyer bench was furious.

The officials allowed two seconds to be ticked
off the clock before Trojan Ricky Powers
went to the free throw line, where he made his first shot.

The second shot
bounced wide, though,
and Madison's Morris Hughes got the rebound
and tied the score.

Fans poured onto the floor, and although the game wasn't officially over, the clock kept tickin' away.

The timekeeper couldn't see the official signalling to stop the clock.

"It wasn't anyone's fault," Nunn said. "It was just a communication problem. When the crowd ran onto the floor, I thought we had from three to five seconds left.
But those things happen. When we're on the road we expect them.
Being from East St. Louis
we're accustomed to it."

South takes two duals

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City South bettered its 1-0 record to 3-0 by defeating Bloomington 35-12 and Mt. Vernon 65-9 at South Saturday afternoon in a double dual prep wrestling meet. Bloomington beat Mt. Vernon 59-6.

South 35, Bloomington 12 — Chris Cottrell won his 98 pound bout by pinning Paul Menken at the 37 mark. Rick Presswood defeated Troy Mott 10-7 in their 105 match. Greg Garland beat Dallas Lucas 3-0.

At 119, Paul Willis superior Carlos Ortiz, 16-2. Don Loftus of Bloomington beat Randy Lupardus at 126, 7-6. And Phil Beljanski, 132, outdid Tim McDonald 14-5. South's 138 pounder, Tom McElroy, tallied four team points with a major decision over Dennis Hawkins, 16-7. Dean Perkins wrestled to a 4-0 beating of John Conklin at 145 and Drew Clement shut out Jim Insalata 10-0 in the 155 pound class.

Jim Frangoulis beat Greg McCuen at 167 by a score of 8-5 and Jeff Bowers defeated South's Rich James 4-0. Bloomington's top heavy-weight pinned Bruce Monahan 4 seconds into the second period, final score 35-12.

South 65, Mt. Vernon 9

It was a royal romping. South missed by three matches or seven points of a perfect 72 point-12 fall meet. The Warriors did, however, tally nine falls, two major decisions and one regular, winning all 12.

At 126, Randy Lupardus, a junior at South, scored a superior decision, 18-4, over Andy Somratty. Senior Phil Beljanski wrestled with a protective face mask to guard his nose. Beljanski went at 132 and beat Jim Schmidt 13-0.

Tom McElroy is a 138 pound junior for the Warriors. He outwrestled Pat Brazier, 13-1. At this point, the team score was 36-0.

The match to watch had to be the Dean Perkins South against Bryon Daggett at 145 pounds. Perkins applied a figure "4" head lock in the South's first three pinned their opponents. Cottrell over Tony Galbreath, 37 seconds; Presswood stuck Don Williams, 55; and Garland flattened John Schmidt, 53 seconds.

Willis beat Robbie O'Bryant, 14-5; Lupardus pinned Morris Grooms in 1:05; and Beljanski pinned Mark Regehard in 5:41. Those were at the 119, 126 and 132 weight classes.

At 138, McElroy pinned Dan Trotter at 1:11 and Perkins stuck Grant Gibbons in one minute flat at 145 pounds. Clement at 155 beat Rod Germann by a score of 11-0.

South scored two falls in their last three weights. Frangoulis stuck Tim Garred in 2:44 at 167 pounds, and heavy-weight Monahan pinned Rick Robinson at the 5:28 mark. James at 185 defeated Ernie Badger 5-3. South won them all and now has a 3-0 record.

Bloomington 59, Mt. Vernon 6

Bloomington wrestlers are listed first: Menken pinned Galbreath in 28 seconds; Mott stuck Williams, 58; Lucas won by a fall over Schmidt, 5:18; Ortiz pinned O'Bryant, 3:12; Loftus scored a fall over Grooms, 1:02. McDonald was pinned by Regehard, 3:08; Hawkins flattened Trotter, 39; Conklin over Gibbons, 55; Insalata decisioned Germann, 9-4; McCuen defeated Garrod, 18-9; Bowers beat Badger, 4-3; and Brown pinned Robinson, 3:36.

barely lost to Polson in their challenge match.

Frangoulis was down 4-1 in the premier period, but battled back and took the lead 5-4. Miquel May escaped in the third and the score was tied with 53 seconds remaining. Frangoulis shot and tried in vain as the match ended in a tie, giving two team points to each, 47-2.

South's 185 wrestler is a senior, Rich James. He beat Brian Regina 8-2. Bruce Monahan grappled at heavyweight as a junior for South. He decisioned Ross Webb 5-2. Final team score was 53-2 and South's dual record is 1-0.

"We have a lot of mobility down there (lower weight)," said Schmitt. When asked of Perkins, the coach said, "Dean can go as far as he wants to go. If he works hard at it, it can go all the way."

Edwardsville is manhandled

GRANITE CITY — The wrestling Warriors of Granite City South successfully opened their dual meet season with a decisive victory over the Tigers of Edwardsville, 53-2, here Friday. Granite's junior varsity and sophomore levels also won, 46-24 and 42-27, respectively.

Cradles and nelsons were dominate for South in its lower weight bouts. Chris Cottrell, a junior at South at 98 pounds, struck freshman Cary Hunter with a nearside cradle in 55 seconds. Rick Presswood, a 105 pound senior, used a half nelson to put away sophomore Karl Unterbrink of the Tigers.

Warrior Greg Garland tallied five different sets of near fall points with five different cradles before he put Les Henly in a match-ending sixth cradle at 5:42. Garland is a junior and wrestled at 112 pounds.

Paul Willis of South sucked a lot of weight according to Coach Bill "Red" Schmitt. But, Willis still managed to get the original takedown against Mike Wiley in their 119 pound match. Those first period points were the only points to be scored, 20-0.

At 126, Randy Lupardus, a junior at South, scored a superior decision, 18-4, over Andy Somratty. Senior Phil Beljanski wrestled with a protective face mask to guard his nose. Beljanski went at 132 and beat Jim Schmidt 13-0.

Tom McElroy is a 138 pound junior for the Warriors. He outwrestled Pat Brazier, 13-1. At this point, the team score was 36-0.

The match to watch had to be the Dean Perkins South against Bryon Daggett at 145 pounds. Perkins applied a figure "4" head lock in the first period of the match. But, he was unable to get an official pin and had to settle for three back points.

Late in the second period, Perkins suffered one too many elbows and his gums began to bleed. Injury time-out was called and a cup of ice was applied. Later, the Granite junior received a cut above his right eye. After all of this, he finally won by a fall at the 5:38 mark.

Senior Drue Clement's 155 pound beating of Jean Edmund, 7-0, put the Warriors well on top, 45-0. But all shutouts are subject to being broken, as was the case.

Scott Polson, South's original entry at 167, was overweight — in fact, he didn't even attempt to get on the scales, Schmitt said. Polson's place was Jim Frangoulis, a junior, who barely lost to Polson in their challenge match.

Frangoulis was down 4-1 in the premier period, but battled back and took the lead 5-4. Miquel May escaped in the third and the score was tied with 53 seconds remaining. Frangoulis shot and tried in vain as the match ended in a tie, giving two team points to each, 47-2.

South's 185 wrestler is a senior, Rich James. He beat Brian Regina 8-2. Bruce Monahan grappled at heavyweight as a junior for South. He decisioned Ross Webb 5-2. Final team score was 53-2 and South's dual record is 1-0.

"We have a lot of mobility down there (lower weight)," said Schmitt. When asked of Perkins, the coach said, "Dean can go as far as he wants to go. If he works hard at it, it can go all the way."

Railsplitters win tourney

COLLINSVILLE — The Lincoln (Ill.) Railsplitters won the championship of the Collinsville Round Robin Tournament here Saturday night with a routing 80-74 victory over the host Kahoks in what had turned out to be the championship game.

Both teams went into the game with 2-0 tourney marks, leaving Hillsboro and Chicago Crane Tech along the wayside.

Dave Burg of Collinsville led all scorers with 22 points, but it wasn't enough. Better team play by Lincoln enabled them to escape with the win. Other tournament scores were: Chicago 71, Crane Tech 47; Collinsville 96, Hillsboro 60 and Lincoln 45, Crane Tech 41.

Centralia 83, West 78. CENTRALIA — Belleville West fell victim to the lion and quickness here Saturday night. The Centralia Orphans, opening their season in a battle with Arthur Trout Gymnasium, came from behind (after leading early) to hand West its second defeat in as many nights, 83-78 Saturday.

West, obviously bothered by the Orphans' press, saw three starters foul out in the game, helping pave the way to Centralia's victory. The Maroons were led by Mike Howard with 19 points. Centralia's J.R. Johnson had a game-high 28.

Cahokia 62, East 51. PEORIA — Cahokia High opened its basketball season on a high note here Friday night, handing Belleville East's Lancers a 62-51 defeat. But not all of it was the Comanches' doing. East committed 20 turnovers. Cahokia's balanced scoring, with three men in double figures, was too much for East.

New Athens 74, Lebanon 68. LEBANON — The at Greyhounds, they ain't what they used to be. At least not in their first game of the season.

The usually powerful Lebanon Greyhounds aren't a bad team this season, so don't write their obituary too soon. But here Friday night, it was all new Athens. The Yellowjackets played a cool game against Lebanon enroute to the win. The game was close throughout, with the lead changing hands 14 times. Lebanon's Shelby Brooks had 26 points. New Athens' Dale Jansen had 30.

What pleased Graham the most was the way he saw his team taking shape in the young season.

"We really don't have our starting line up yet," he said.

GO TO THE POINT. Granite City South wrestler Randy Lupardus gets a point not only on the scoreboard but also from referee Haig Nighosian Friday night during his 126-pound victory over Edwardsville's Andy Somratty. South won the meet 53-2.

Madison beats Panthers

JERSEYVILLE — The Madison Trojans, fresh from a draining one-point overtime loss to East St. Louis, may have been at less than peak condition Saturday night, but they still managed a 64-64 win over the Jerseyville Panthers.

The Trojans didn't exactly limp past the Panthers, but neither did they breeze. It was the kind of game that made Madison coach Larry Graham glad just to come out on top.

"It was the kind of game you expect after an emotional one like East St. Louis," Graham said. "I wasn't surprised. They're tough to beat when they're at home."

What pleased Graham the most was the way he saw his team taking shape in the young season.

"We really don't have our starting line up yet," he said.

"But we're close. I think we saw some things against Jerseyville that will help us decide."

Graham saw the Trojans display the balance he has counted on. Morris Hughes, who scored 25 points against East St. Louis came up with four against Jerseyville.

But there to take up the slack was Madison's Pat Hatter and Ricky Powers who respectively scored 19 and 18 points.

Hatter scored eight of his 19 in the third period, when the Trojans broke away from the Panthers.

For Jerseyville, the leading scorer was Steve Fry. His eight points in the second quarter were all but two the Panthers scored in the period, and held Jerseyville close.

But in the second half, the Trojans limited Fry to only eight more.

Despite the 10-point margin of victory, the game was close.

Both teams made six free throws, Madison on 14 attempts and Jerseyville on 11. Madison made 29 of its 65 field goals, Jerseyville made 24 of 62.

Madison outrebounded the Panthers 43-30, and Jerseyville committed 25 turnovers to 21 for the Trojans.

South 4th in poll

CHICAGO — The Granite City South wrestling team has been ranked fourth in the state in a pre-season wrestling poll conducted by "The Word" magazine, the official publication of the Illinois wrestling coaches Association.

Sister school Granite City North is also ranked in the top 15, being tabbed 12th among Class AA (large schools) in the same poll.

Besides the two Granite City schools, no other area teams were included in the poll. In fact, Chicago area schools make up the bulk of the poll — as usual.

Addison Trail is the number one team in the poll, followed by Joliet West, Chicago Grant, South, and Downer's Grove North. The only other downstate schools in the poll are Moline (18th) and Springfield Lanphier (14th).

Jones in lineup

LOS ANGELES — Venice native Ron Jones was in the starting lineup here Friday night when the Illinois State University basketball team opened its 1979-80 season against the University of Southern California in the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

Jones, a graduate of Madison High School, is on the verge of cracking the Top Ten in ISU's all-time scoring list, and is also hearing down on the school's career assists record. A senior, he has 1,300 career points, and held the tenth place total held by Dave Schertz, whose career ended in 1969. His career assist total of 481 is just 26 behind the Redbirds' record set by 1979 senior Derrick Mayes.

Jones is one of three starters returning from last season's 20-10 ISU squad. Friday's game was the season-opener for both ISU and USC. USC edged ISU 63-61.

them ahead by two with a short jump shot, then by four when he added two free throws.

But Madison had come too far to go down quietly. With 56 left, Madison's Greg Lucas brought the Trojans back to 69-67 with shot from underneath the basket.

Lucas made it a one-point game when he sank the free throw awarded him after he was fouled by Gordon.

The Flyers went into a stall, but Hughes managed to steal the ball. He wasn't able to do anything with it though, as his shot bounced into the hands of the Flyers' Johnson.

That ended it. Madison lost by a point.

They had come that close to what many believe to be one of the best large school teams in the southern part of the state.

A large part of that effort came from Hughes who scored 22 points in the game.

Hughes led Madison, except for the third quarter, when he scored only two points. That's when the Trojans began to fall behind.

Oilers hot

But that would be the closest North would get.

"We had chances," said Ohlendorf. "We were coming back, but we couldn't finish it."

"(Wood River) kept changing defenses on us," he said. "We've been having problems with that in practice and we did tonight."

But in the end, it was a case of one team being hot and the other not.

North will open its 1979-1980 home season Friday night against Gateway East Conference foe Edwardsville. It will be the conference opener for the Steibers.

The Cougars dropped their first game to Lehigh University, 2-1, in Wednesday's opening action. Almond was credited with the second half goal, and Frey got the assist.

Ladies finish fifth

CHICAGO — The women's basketball team at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville opened their 1979-80 season with a fifth-place finish at the Chicago State University tournament held this past weekend in Chicago.

SIUE coach Wendy Hedberg was pleased with the performance of her charges.

"As a whole, I'd say we had a successful weekend," said Hedberg. "The team played really well for their first games."

Indeed, the Cougars did play well. They were one of the few teams in the tournament that had not played any games yet this season.

In the opening round, SIUE had the misfortune of being seeded against a team which had played several games already, the Ramblers of Loyola University.

The Ramblers defeated the Cougars by a score of 73-54, but the game was much closer than it seemed. Loyola's playing experience from their previous games this season gave them a slight edge over the Cougars, but once SIUE got over its initial nervousness, the Cougars made the Ramblers work for their victory.

Loyola struck first in scoring and ran up a 7-0 lead.

until Jean Marchand picked up a rebound out of Cheryl Schofield, who gave it to Helen Steinkamp. Steinkamp shot it in for the Cougars' first goal in the tournament and the season.

Loyola controlled the flow of the game in the first half, forcing the Cougars to play their game, but SIUE kept pressing. At halftime, the score was 24-36. SIUE was led by Steinkamp and junior guard Jean Marchand, with eight points each.

Sloppy play by Loyola and a hot streak by senior guard Jo Brooks enabled the Cougars to get within striking distance, but just when it seemed the Ramblers were out of the game, they came back to life.

Brooks was the hot hand for the Cougars, sinking three field goals in the second half of the game to bring her point total to 16, and 20 on the game.

As if Loyola weren't providing enough trouble for the Cougars, Steinkamp slipped and fell on her knee, causing a slight sprain.

But the Cougars tried to ignore all their misfortunes and kept pressing. SIUE made a game rally in the closing minutes of the game, but the clock ran out.

SIUE went against St.

Zavier in the second game of the tournament, a team whose nickname might've sounded vaguely familiar to the Cougars, because St. Xavier's team is also called the Cougars. As a matter of fact, host Chicago State is also called the Cougars, adding to the confusion even more.

In the St. Xavier game, the right Cougars came out on top, as SIUE dropped St. Xavier by a 79-38 score. The Cougars could do no wrong in their game against St. Xavier, as there players hit double figures in their point totals.

"They must be good," Guelker said. "Because they upped Indiana. We may not be playing the best team, but we'll be playing a good one."

"They (SIUE) look easier to beat in the stands than on the field," Negroesco said. "They really get up for some games, but not for others."

"If they can keep it up — because we're Americans, and you're not — they could go all the way."

forwards, the Dons had too far to come and too little time left.

"We could have come back, I guess," Negroesco said. "It would have been very difficult, though. We changed our attack from a close up game to a long ball type. It's very hard to switch from something that's natural to you."

"They're not going to score four goals on our defense," Ebert said. "We knew we could play our game with their offense."

When the final buzzer sounded, the Cougars were assured of a trip to Tampa Bay. But the victory was in some ways more meaningful for the SIUE squad.

"I hate em," Hundt said of San Francisco's mostly foreign players. "You can't win with Americans — that's what Negroesco said. I wanted to tell him to his face that we Americans were happy to beat him."

Negroesco, though was unimpressed with the Cougars' sentiments. "I don't pay any attention to all that," he said. "Some of the SIUE players came up and said 'Congratulations, I'm an American.'"

"That's great, but what's the hell's the difference. I offer competition. Everywhere we go we draw well. Call me an s.o.b., call me whatever you want to. As long as you get 10,000 people paying two bucks apiece, I don't care."

About half that many watched as the Cougars downed the Dons. At the same time, Penn State was beating the University of Illinois to advance to next week's game against the Cougars.

SIUE was whistled for 17 fouls, compared to the Panthers' 24.

Kentucky Wesleyan made good on 16 out of 19 free throw attempts for 84 percent and on 33 of 73 field goals.

Branz led SIUE with 18 rebounds, while Schmidt nabbed nine. SIUE out-rebounded Wesleyan 56-54.

Smith and senior guard Greg Payne each handed out four assists for SIUE, while Schmidt had three steals. Each squad committed 13 turnovers.

Tip-in gives Cougars win

OWENSBORO, Ky. — A tip-in by Lawrence Brown with seven seconds left gave the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville basketball team an 83-82 victory in its season opening game Saturday afternoon over Kentucky Wesleyan University.

Bill Branz, the Cougars' senior center, from Odell, Ill., led both teams in scoring with 18 points, while senior forward Tom Schmidt (Waterloo) added 15 points and junior forward Nelson (11) and freshman Ted Smith (10) were also in double figures for SIUE.

The Cougars connected on 33 of 65 attempts from the floor (51 percent), but shot a dismal 17 of 30 from the free throw line (56 percent).

Kentucky Wesleyan made good on 16 out of 19 free throw attempts for 84 percent and on 33 of 73 field goals.

Branz led SIUE with 18 rebounds, while Schmidt nabbed nine. SIUE out-rebounded Wesleyan 56-54.

Over a third of the A.O. Smith Corp. staff here has been at local plant throughout its 25 years

It was a festive occasion last night, and appropriately so. The event was a dinner marking the first quarter-century of the A. O. Smith Corporation automotive frame plant in Granite City and honoring the more than 450 employees who have completed 25 years of service here.

As President John B. Parker said, those associated with the local plant have become "strong partners" in the multi-country Smith corporation, which now has 13,500 employees. Headquartered in Milwaukee, the firm is a diversified manufacturer of products for the automotive, water heating, air conditioning, water supply, livestock feeding, chemical and petroleum industries.

With more than 800 present last night, the past, present and future were saluted by management and labor leaders. Bob Hardy of KMOX and Plant Manager Paul H. Kelly conducted the program, and there was a Russ David "big band" show as well as music for dining and dancing.

When the Granite City plant of A. O. Smith's Automotive Division began operation in mid-September 1954 for production of the 1955 model frame for Chevrolet, there were 1,000 on the payroll.

In December 1979, as production is under way on the 1980 model "B" frame for General Motors, employees total 1,350, well over one-third of whom have been with the plant for the entire 25 years.

The 1955 model frame initially produced here was 188 inches long, 58 inches wide and weighed 226 pounds. It was made up of 73 parts, formed from .085 to .175 gauge mild steel. Arc welded and riveted, each frame required 94 rivets.

Finished frames were used in a Chevrolet coupe and sedan with 115-inch wheelbase, the Chevrolet convertible and the Canadian Pontiac coupe, sedan and convertible. The 861,398 frames produced for the 1955 model year were shipped to

Kansas City, St. Louis, Janesville, Wis., Oakland and Los Angeles, Calif., Flint, Mich., Wilmington, Del., Atlanta, Ga., Norwood, Ohio, Baltimore, Md., Tarrytown, N. Y., and Oshawa, Ontario, Canada.

The 1980 frames now in production are basically coupe, sedan and station wagon frames for Buick Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Chevrolet. The coupe-sedan frame is 189 inches by 58 inches and weighs 271. The station wagon frame is 192x58 and weighs 307 pounds. Both are formed from .079 to .216 minimum gauge mild steel. Semi-automatic and arc welded and riveted, each frame contains two rivets. There are 34 parts in the coupe-sedan frame and 36 in the station wagon frame.

The current frames are being used in the Chevrolet Impala and Caprice, the Buick Lesabre, the Oldsmobile Delta 88 and the Pontiac Catalina and Bonneville. These frames are shipped to assembly plants in St. Louis, Lansing, Mich., Janesville, Wis., South Gate, Calif., Kansas City, Kan., and Oshawa, Ontario, Canada. Components are also shipped to Smith's affiliate in Monterrey, Mexico.

A. O. Smith was the first company to design and build a pressed-steel automobile frame in America, in 1902, and its Automotive Division at Milwaukee and Granite City has continued the tradition of quality products, technical progress and reliable delivery.

Now led by Lloyd B. Smith, great-grandson of the founder and the fourth generation of the family to head the firm, the Smith corporation has much to be proud of—a bright future despite the many concerns that confront the nation and world in these troubled times.

Quadrant City hopes to continue playing a significant role in the company's planning and production activity.

Officers found a 9-millimeter shell casing on the floor next to the mattress, and a third in the folds of the blanket. A hole was in the middle of the mattress next to the wall, officers said. On the floor under the hole in the mattress a spent slug was found, they added.

The officers noticed a stain, apparently blood, on the wall. On the floor were several dice, a cup and coins. It was alleged.

It could not be determined which were exit and entry wounds, officers said. Later, a man Nighoghossian named as his assailant was admitted to St. Elizabeth's Medical Center with three superficial stab wounds to his left chest and abdomen and superficial cuts to his biceps, officers said.

Authorities he drove to the levee and cut himself, because he was upset. No charges have been filed, pending additional investigation.

The board voted during a 10 a.m. meeting today to retain all its officers for another year, including Robinson.

Other officers retained were Omar Brumitt of Cahokia, vice-president; Eugene Clark, treasurer; Helen Christich, chief clerk; and Janice Delaney, deputy clerk.

The board also decided to retain its three attorneys, Larry Calvo of Granite City and John Sprague Sr., and Edward Maugh, both of St. Clair County.

DRIVER ARRESTED
Donald L. Edwards, 24, of 2164 Bell Ave., was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol, reckless driving and having an expired driver's license when his auto allegedly struck three parked cars in the 2100 block of State Street at 11:20 p.m. Thursday. The parked cars were those of Sandra Young, 2134 State St., Taylor Warren, 2138 State St., and Alicia Mullin, 2114 State St. Police alleged Edwards had difficulty standing and refused to take a breath test.

Road salt for use during snow and ice may be in short supply this winter. Factors include an explosion at a Louisiana salt mine.

A winter operating plan was unveiled Friday by the Bi-State Transit System, which will concentrate on having its buses on the streets despite bad weather, and keeping them as close to on-time as the general traffic flow will allow.

A state law requiring utilities to notify county officials or welfare officers when they plan to disconnect a customer's service for non-payment of bills is being described as requiring a costly volume of notices, most of which do not result in heat cut-offs. Illinois Power Company expenses last winter totaled $17,900 for such notices.

Eighty Iranian students in southwestern and southern Illinois and eastern Missouri are expected to be deported for failure to meet residence requirements. Interviews with the non-U.S. citizens are in progress and are to be completed by Dec. 14.

Some Chicago police accepted payoffs on a weekly basis to allow auto thieves to roam Lake Shore Drive without hindrance. The meeting desired specifications for mob-run "chop shops" that dismantle autos and sell their parts. A hooded witness told Sen. Charles H. Percy during a Senate subcommittee hearing last week.

The Alton City Council last week approved a second $15 million bond issue to make low-interest home loans available.

Illinois State Treasurer Jerome Cosentino is backing Pres. Jimmy Carter for renomination.

Opponents of a $62 million Illinois Power Co. rate increase will ask the Illinois Commerce Commission to reconsider its approval, and may also go to court.

Council to meet Thursday 1972 sewer rate ordinance 'surprises' city officials

Granite City officials say they will fight against a 1972 ordinance which sets the rate the city will charge the county for treating sewage from the new sewers in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships.

Plans call for the new sewers, which will be operational next summer, to empty into the city's primary and secondary sewage treatment plants.

During a negotiating session Thursday night, Harry Hartman, attorney for the county's special sewer committee, showed city officials a copy of city ordinance 3555, which was passed during the administration of the late Mayor Don Partney in 1972, and which sets the treatment rate to the county for 42 years.

Hartman said that the county intends to hold the city to the terms of the ordinance and will not honor a 100 quarterly surcharge per household the city wants to impose, in addition to the bond interest fee of about $13 per quarter.

"I insist on the city meeting the terms of the 1972 contract (ordinance) and will not allow the surcharge," Hartman told the

Press-Record.

Alderman Sam Whitmer, chairman of the council's sanitation committee, said he was "caught unprepared" during Thursday night's meeting. "I did not know about the 1972 ordinance. Next time we meet, we will be prepared. We will have the attorney, the mayor, the city engineer and everyone else at the meeting."

Whitmer said this morning. "We charge all sewer users outside of the city limits a $4 quarterly surcharge, by ordinance, and it would apply to these people. I told them Thursday night we want to make a profit from them. We do not want to break even on this thing."

Hartman said a "profit," which covers upkeep of the sewage treatment plant, as well as funds to retire the bonds, is "built in" to the rate structure of the 1972 ordinance.

The ordinance sets a charge of $6.4 cents per 1,000 gallons of sewage from industrial users and indicates the county project will be billed as an industrial user. Any variations from the contract must be settled by arbitration, according to the ordinance.

Whitmer said he understood a panel of three engineers is to arbitrate disagreements. One engineer each would be appointed by the county and the city and a third, who is to be neutral in the matter, is to be agreed upon by both sides.

Hartman also is contending that a portion of the surcharge paid by persons living outside of the city who use city sewers goes for maintenance and upkeep of the sewers.

Persons using the county sewers will be paying the county to maintain the sewers, so the city would not be entitled to that money, Hartman contended.

The county is attempting to speed the negotiating process so it can have its sewage treatment and maintenance manual approved by the county board at its January meeting. The Environmental Protection Agency has indicated it may withhold future payouts from grants on the sewer project, if the manual is not passed in the near future.

"They say they want to meet again soon, but I want to wait until we are ready to break even on this thing," Whitmer concluded.

Shots fired; two arrested

Karen J. Wallace, 28, of 2120 Ohio Ave., was charged with discharging a firearm in the city limits, not having a firearm owner's identification card, disorderly conduct and two state charges of aggravated assault and Harry Wallace, 33, of the same address, was charged with criminal trespass to property, disorderly conduct and two counts of battery after a disturbance in their neighborhood at 11:40 p.m. Sunday.

Police were told shots had been fired behind the Wallace home and when officers arrived, John and Betty Alpe, 2119 Bryan Ave., alleged the Wallace had attacked them in the rear yard of the Alpe home.

Alpe said he heard his dogs barking in the rear yard and when he investigated, Harry Wallace allegedly yelled at him over the rear fence and cursed at him.

Wallace allegedly jumped over the fence and threatened to kill everyone in the Alpe family. When Wallace started up the stairs to the Alpe home, Karen Wallace allegedly emerged from the rear door of her home with a 12-gauge shotgun and fired three shots.

Alpe and Harry Wallace fought while Mrs. Alpe ran outside and said she would summon the police. Wallace allegedly broke free from Alpe and struck Mrs. Alpe's mouth with a fist. Karen Wallace then came to the rear of the fence and fired another shot from the shotgun, police were told.

A man not involved in the incident, Donald Raycain, came walking down the alley at that time and Karen Wallace allegedly pointed the shotgun at him and threatened to "blow your head off," police were told.

Police arrived and separated Alpe and Wallace. Karen Wallace allegedly showed police where she had hidden the gun in another house in the 2100 block of Ohio Avenue, without the owner of the house knowing it.

Television and young children

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County Extension
Adviser, Home Economics

Many parents worry about what heavy television watching may be doing to their young children. But parents who help their children deal positively with television do more than "worry."

Researchers have been studying the effects of television on children for more than 20 years now. So far, many of the findings are complex and controversial.

While the researchers argue, parents continue to worry about how to handle this important aspect of their children's lives. Here are a few practices that parents might find useful:

—Make a point to watch television with your child as often as you can. Research evidence seems to indicate that children do learn behavior from watching television—desirable as well as aggressive behavior. So it's a good idea to make sure that, some of the time, children are seeing some good behavior models on the programs they watch.

—Observe how your child reacts to behavior and events on the screen, and to the intensity of the action, pacing and noise level. Once in a while, probe your child's understanding of what's being watched. In this way, you can help clear up mistaken ideas and interpretations the child may have.

—Don't be afraid to turn the set off if your child seems to become fearful, yet insists on continuing to watch. You may be wrong in your analysis of what is upsetting the child, but risk being too careful, anyway.

—If you strongly object to a particular program regularly shown in your area, talk with the parents of your children's friends to see if you can all agree to ban the program, the children who are friends. This may be hard to do, but is an important part of standing up for your own values.

—Let your child know when something about a program—the visual effects, the story, the music, for instance—is particularly interesting or pleasing to you.

Also, tell your child when you think a program is bad taste, presents an unfair picture, or is phony or superficial. Your child doesn't have to agree with you, of course, but he or she needs to see you as a thinking, discriminating person.

This kind of sharing lays the foundation for the development of your child's aesthetic judgments and values.

—As you watch programs with your children, find out how well they understand how a program is produced and how given effects are created. Encourage children to guess or predict how the plot will unfold and develop.

By encouraging thoughtful responses to television, you help children develop critical viewing habits that will prove useful throughout a long life of viewing.

Holiday campaign to renew church links

An invitation has been extended by Bishop Joseph A. McNicholas to non-practicing Catholics to return to the church by Christmas. "Come on home for Christmas" is the theme of the program in the Springfield Diocese.

Between Thanksgiving and Christmas, lapsed Catholics are being encouraged to resume practice of their faith. In this campaign in 28 counties in central and southwestern Illinois, lapsed Catholics are being reminded that "the church cares" for them.

Members of Catholic parishes will offer prayers daily for the success of the program of reconciliation. They will circulate a holy card, with a prayer that can be recited by someone who no longer goes to Mass, as a Christmas reminder of God's love for the individual.

'Bringer award' to aid Optimist member drive

A "Bringer award" is being developed by Granite City Optimist William Monical, chairman of the membership committee of the club.

At the group's Thursday noon meeting, Monical announced the committee is working on details of the contest.

The goal is to recruit 20 new members and increase the average attendance at meetings.

Optimists serving on the committee include Paul Crank, Nick Petrillo and Alan Walker. Monical said that members who become "bringers" will be justly rewarded and those not bringing new members or persuading old members to become active will be "dealt with accordingly."

Jim Seiz announced that the club will ring bells for the Salvation Army Tree of Lights drive on Monday, Dec. 17.

James Livingston, executive vice-president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, was a guest of the club.

There was a favorable response on supporting a "Send Help" emergency card program.

Personal letters to non-practicing Catholics will be written by Bishop McNicholas "in the spirit of the season of Advent, when the church anticipated Christ's coming, and renews its spirit of community."

Personal contacts by parish priests and laymen have been encouraged. "These visits will offer a chance for discussion with persons who feel alienated or bewildered by recent changes," the bishop said.

PEOPLE

Fuel aid offer

Up to $400 per family is available to eligible Madison County households, the Economic Opportunity Commission said as it began taking fuel aid applications Saturday.

Applications are being taken at EOC and other offices, including 145 Madison Ave., Madison; the Chouteau Town Hall at 697A N. Thorngate; Venice Township at 1602 Fifth St., Madison; 1048 Douglas St., Venice; Granite City Township Building, 2060 Delmar Ave.; and the Nameoki Town Hall, 4250 Route 162.

The county's allocation is $229,921.

To qualify, an applicant must show that money which would have been used for food, clothing or prescription medicine instead was used to pay energy bills.

The applicant must meet federal income guidelines ($1,250 or less for one member, up to $11,125 for six members) and provide evidence of utility bills, paid or unpaid.

PARTY BORN

Also on Nov. 28, Sarah Scott, Betty J. Boyd, both of Madison, Betty Bishop, Thomas Wells, both of Collinsville, and Frank Neptune, Kentucky.

On May 19, 1891, the Populist Party was launched in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Kinder will continue his law practice

"I hope that you will print this to clear up the misunderstanding that has come to my attention following your article about my appointment to the office of public defender," William F. Kinder said today.

"My appointment is a part-time position. I shall continue in the private practice of law with my brother, Norman, on Nameoki Road at Lindell in Granite City.

"Incidentally, in addition to my wife and daughter that you mentioned in your article I also have a son, Tom, living at home."

POLITICAL UPSET

On May 17, 1977, in a major upset, Israel's right-wing Likud coalition defeated the Labor Party which had governed the nation since its inception in 1948.

Hospice formed here inspiring all associated with its efforts

Sharing and caring are taking on new meanings as the Hospice of Madison County program expands and in effect becomes a close part of many Quad-City area families, Chouteau Township Senior Citizens were told Thursday night.

Meeting at the Chouteau Town Hall and Community Center, the gathering heard Mrs. Rosemarie Lindner of the hospice staff describe her experiences not only as an employee but as a volunteer.

Contributors and volunteers are still needed by the fledgling organization, which has as its goal the alleviation of pain and anxiety for terminal cancer victims and the reinforcing of family ties in the closing weeks of life, she said.

A $100 contribution to Hospice was accepted Thursday night by Mrs. Lindner (Press-Record Photo at left) from Ferd Segar, president, representing the Chouteau Senior Citizens.

In the other, staff photographer, Marion Sparks is introducing the guest speaker; seated are Segar, Mrs. Avalon Young and Mrs. Clayton Presley.

It was related that Hospice of Madison County has 167 members and 50 active volunteers. Eight families currently are being aided, and there have been four deaths, including two in the past week. While the local program has been in the planning stage for a year and a half, its main operations began nine weeks ago.

"You wouldn't believe how rewarding it has been for the volunteers, the staff and the families," Mrs. Lindner commented. Only the second hospice to be started in Illinois, the Madison County program hopes to expand in January with the establishment of a six-bed center at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. But the emphasis will continue to be on home care, she emphasized.

The new hospice center itself will be as much like home as possible, with food, visiting privileges, procedures, atmosphere and surroundings differing from the remainder of the hospital.

Many of the differences are "little," but the saying that "little things mean a lot" is true in regard to what can be done to ease and enhance living for patients and for their families, the Senior Citizens were told.

Started in England, the hospice concept is sound but has not yet been sufficiently recognized to obtain enough health insurance funding, even though costs are much lower than full-time hospital care, the speaker related.

Medical and nursing services are provided as well as the help of volunteers. Charges are based on ability to pay.

Companionship is one of the key services provided, and it has been found that conversations with men volunteers are of great comfort to ailing men, Mrs. Lindner said.

No one will get rich from hospice, she commented; her pay is being provided by a contributor who wants to see the hospice program succeed. But there is no other word than "rewarding" to describe the inspiration felt by all who become a part of Hospice of Madison County, she concluded.

15th conviction on supplemental security income

QuLee McGee, 62, East St. Louis, has pleaded guilty to two felony counts and one misdemeanor count in the U.S. District Court. A former employee of St. Louis Altheim, a nursing home, she admitted making false statements regarding her work and earnings.

The false statements resulted in an overpayment of $5,048 in Supplemental Security Income benefits. The conviction carries a possible penalty of 11 years in prison and $21,000 in fines. A date for sentencing has not yet been set.

The Supplemental Security Income program is administered by the Social Security Administration for persons who are aged, blind, or disabled and who have limited income and resources.

The case was investigated by the East St. Louis Social Security office and the Regional Integrity Staff of Social Security which is based in Chicago. This is the 15th such conviction in the Chicago region this year.

Some Things You Need to Know About the Use of Natural Gas

Federal law requires disconnection of outdoor gas lights

The federal Power Plant and Industrial Fuel Use Act requires disconnection of outdoor gas light fixtures according to this schedule:

1. All Commercial and Industrial outdoor gas lights must be disconnected after November 9, 1979.
2. All Residential and Municipal outdoor gas lights must be disconnected by January 1, 1982.

Failure to disconnect outdoor gas lights could result in the loss of gas service. Federal legislation provides that anyone who wants an exemption from this order should petition the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Exemption criteria and exemption petitions can be obtained from the Illinois Commerce Commission or Illinois Power Company. Visit or call your nearest IP energy use advisor.
